Thoughts from the Editors.

It has been an amazing school year filled with great times with the yearbook staff. As usual, deadlines were difficult to meet due to timing, the tons of snow days and interruptions. Our theme for this year was a driving theme. The yearbook staff personalities were a good match, and things moved smoothly. Returning staff helped the new staff members learn how to use our yearbook software, InDesign CS3, and how to create interesting layouts. Writing copies was always a chore to come up with new ideas to write about. We hope our year in history represented by this book will leave everyone with fond memories of 2009-2010. Yearbook was a lot of hard work and dedication. We wish next year's staff the best of luck and hope you enjoy the great opportunities yearbook has to offer.

SUPERMARKETS Presents the Class of 2010 in 2020...

Congratulations Seniors!

Emily Brown-I plan to be happily married and working in the medical field.
 Elizabeth VanReenen-I will be out of Pocahontas County enjoying my life. Working and spending time with my friends.
 Robbie Sipe-Definitely not married, barefoot and crazy with Jaelyn by my side! Successful and happy.
 Larissa Hill-Maybe: Hugh Hefner's top Playboy Bunny or simply a great psychiatrist for Mr. Lindsey; lying on the beach with my Brazilian Wife.
 Adrienne Nottingham-In ten years I'll be living in a rural area, doing whatever I love to do.
 Patrick Cutlip-Lying in Riverside, working at Doug's Body Shop, having great weekends.
 Dylan Cutlip-Living on Riverside Road, working at Doug's Body Shop with intentions of changing the name to Dylan's Body Shop.
 Kly Tywaniv-Living on Easter Island as a crocodile, high-fiving friends and hunting caribou.
 George Cochran-In ten years I will be a diesel mechanic and have my own shop.
 Laurel Fischer-Living far away from the cold mountains of West Virginia.
 Sierra Withers-I will have graduated from college and found a job as a Spanish teacher.
 Amanda Galford-Out of school, working hard and living life like there's no tomorrow.
 Jerry Simoun-Living somewhere in California and playing ball for the Los Angeles Lakers.
 Joy Walkup-I hope to be living by the ocean, playing and coaching soccer, and to have a strong Christian husband and my Master's in Marine Biology.
 Travis Cook-I plan to be a game warden for the United States Forest Service and married with two children.
 Mark Egan-Owning a studio, having multiple platinum records and a new coat of paint on my Astro. Or Two Words: Cardboard Box
 Matthew Faulkner-I predict that I'll be working for R.W. Faulkner Excavating, living on my small farm.
 Coy Beverage-Graduated from college and working as a paid fire fighter for Shaver's Fork Fire Rescue.
 Gabe Beck-Making millions, having billions in the biggest mansion, with my perfect girl by my side.
 Zach Jarrett-I plan to be midway through my medical internship and on my way to becoming a doctor.
 Cassandra Warner-Having a good job teaching preschoolers, out of Pocahontas County and living life.
 Cassey Beverage-I plan to be a full-time nurse and living out of Pocahontas County.
 Abe Rittenhouse-I don't know, but it will be good.
 Jennifer Burns-I plan to have a business management degree, nice home, wealthy family and to have a happy, successful life, accomplishing my dreams.
 Jordan Clendenen-Working as a paramedic in Buckhannon.
 Danielle Gooding-I will be traveling all over the world with my husband still pursuing Spanish.
 Jairus Morton-Out of college and not working at a fast-food restaurant.
 Josh Arbogast-Hopefully still in medical school and maybe the mayor of Durbin.
 Cody Perkins-In ten years I hope to be in California, living in Beverly Hills and owning my own business.
 Kayla Riley-Graduated with a BSN Degree, married to a doctor, expecting first child, having a steady job, and living in the home of my dreams.
 J.D. Mallow-Living in the American dream house, kids, car, boat, working to make an honest living or ... the guys in the black suits lead me to a huge super computer every morning, bring me my meals, and lead me back to my cell at night.
 Michael Simmons-I think in ten years I will be in the Pro Bowling Association.
 Nathan Hudson-I will be an electrical engineer with a nice house and a family.
 Nicole Barlow-Being a nurse married with some children, pulling my hair out. Still doing rodeos, just loving it!
 Jesse Bolyard-I don't know; whatever it is, it'll be fun.
 Amanda Nottingham-I plan to have a successful job, a fine husband, a beautiful house in a rural area, and friends to stand by my side.
 Gabrielle Cutlip-Successful, happy, and out of Pocahontas County.
 Jaunessa Turner-I see myself married to a wonderful husband and having a kid. I will live in a beautiful house. I will also have a job in the medical field.
 Olivia Grimes-In ten years I plan on owning my own pharmacy and being successful at being a pharmacist.
 Jesse Walker-In ten years I will be fishing in Montana, managing a wildlife preserve, and doing what I love, raking in the money.
 Robert Krout-I plan to be a carpenter in Marlinton.
 Shannon Church-I'll be doing what I love somewhere and, more than likely, partying with J.D. whenever he can escape from prison.
 Martin Lockman-King of the World.
 Ethan Shields-Probably still living in Pocahontas County. Working and still playing video games.
 Kailey Gibson-In ten years I will hopefully be laying, guarding, guiding, and giving guests an unforgettable experience with my Parks and Recreation Degree Living life to the fullest.

Class of 2010

Two Million Dollars Can Take You a Long Way!

Graduation for the class of 2010 came quickly. This was a record year for snow days, 22 to be exact. The time flew by quickly with college applications and scholarships, letters from the board office, graffiti, college classes, research papers and mounds of homework. This was called the million-dollar class for many reasons. The main reason for this distinguished title was due to the fact that collectively as a whole, the graduating class earned over two million dollars in college funding through scholarships and grants. Mrs. Beverage and the students beat the bushes looking for every penny to help make college a reality and less stressful. This was also a million dollar class in personality and academics. This class had the largest number of honor graduates to date.

Valedictorian Sam Rose delivered a patriotic speech, urging his fellow classmates to embrace their freedoms and pursue their dreams. Martin Lockman, salutatorian, gave a witty speech to match his personality and his love of chicken nuggets

Josh Arbogast - Prayer

Elie Bell is chosen as Treasurer for next year's National Honor Society.

Jannessa Turner accepts her scholarship from Alderson Broadus.

Coach Sheets recognized Jim ny Wiley and Jerry Simonin for their basketball efforts

Sierra Withers was presented with a sombrero award from Mrs. Minter.

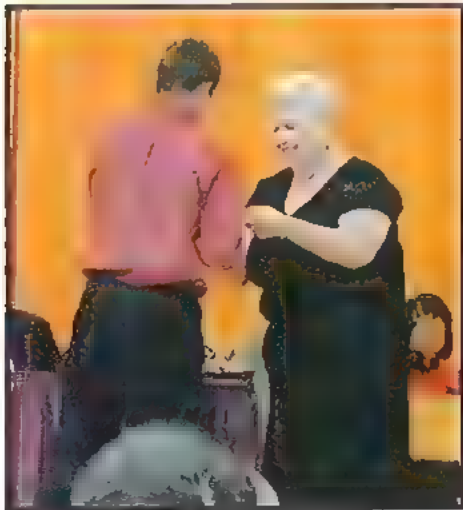

Awards & Banquets

Hard Work & Dedication Always Pays Off!

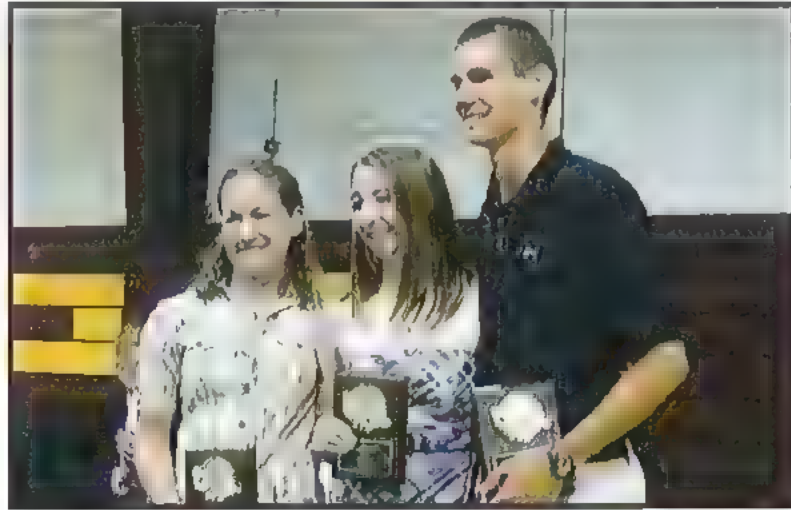

With June 9 quickly approaching, it was time to recognize students for their accomplishments throughout the year in academics as well as sports. The sports banquet is an annual event held to recognize athletes for their accomplishments. Coaches were given time to recognize their teams for setting and breaking records and to recap their seasons. The National Honor Society and the local banks sponsored Senior Awards Night to recognize seniors with academic scholarships and school awards. This was by far one of the most successful graduating classes to date. Parents and students alike were very proud of their accomplishments. It was great to see so many young adults filled with hopes and dreams for bright and successful futures.

George Cochran was the proud winner of the David E. Smith award.

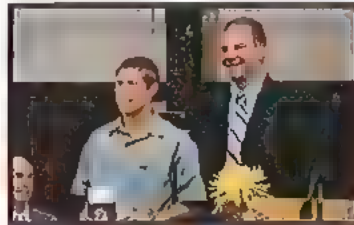

Mrs. Borror presented Josh Arbogast with a perfect attendance award.

Joy Walkup, Toni Dilley and Abe Rittenhouse were presented with the William Dilley scholarship.

Timmy Dean received a Social Studies Fair award.

Jesse Bolyard received the Math/Athlete award.

Mark Egan was the winner of the first Loren Buzzard scholarship.

Sam Rose earned an award from the U.S. Air Force.

With

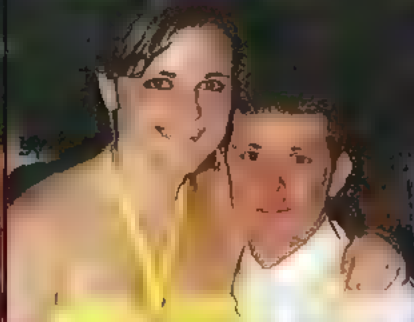

all the snow days this year, the prom committee had to work very hard to plan a successful prom. The theme was "Fire and Ice" and it was held at the Opera House in Marlinton. Students voted for Seth Doss as Prom Prince, Katelynn Beverage as Prom Princess, Josh Arbogast as Prom King and Adrienne Nottingham as Prom Queen. After three hours of dancing and laughter, everyone left with memories that will last a lifetime. The After-Prom was held at the high school and students enjoyed obstacle courses and won prizes. The 2010 prom was a success and everyone is looking forward to next year's prom.

The band members were joined by two alumni at the Mountain State Forest Festival in Elkins.

The FBLA group had a blast at the state level, with senior Olivia Grimes and sophomore Matthew Alderman qualifying for Nationals, which will be held in Nashville, Tennessee.

Students from Ms. Busick's classes competed at the county level and continued onward to the regional and state level, at which they took second place in the U.S. History part of the Social Studies Fair.

Trips and Competitions!!

Looking Beyond the Horizon

Mr. Sheets demonstrates the proper way to sort through the soil for artifacts to Cody Lambert and Bekka Edens.

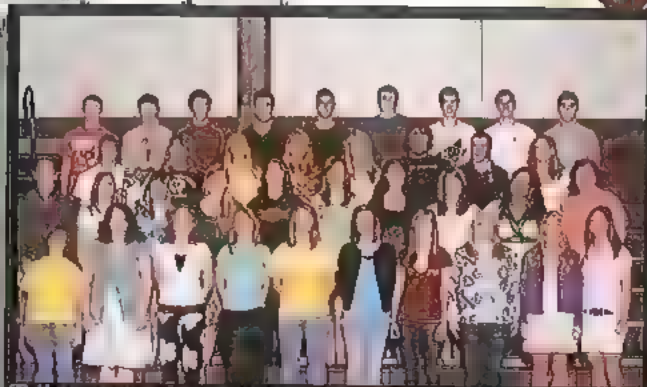

Mrs. Martin's Civics and Mrs. Burns's class were all involved in the dig this year, looking for something at the Fort.

Everyday is an adventure for students at P.C.H.S., during school and outside of school. Students spent much of their time involved in extracurricular activities. Band, athletics, FFA, FBLA, and Skills USA were some of the school-sponsored events. Outside of school, students were involved with church youth groups, 4-H, and jobs. This year, students got a unique opportunity to visit Fort Warwick to do an archeological dig to look for Civil War remains such as buttons and belt buckles and to find the border of the fort. Band went on several trips to places like the Buckwheat Festival and the Forest Festival. FBLA went on their annual trip to the State Leadership Conference where several students placed and qualified for the National Leadership Conference in Nashville, Tennessee. Skills USA took first at states in Chapter Business and were going on to Kansas City, Missouri, to compete in Nationals. The Social Studies classes were able to take the fair projects to the regional and state levels, placing in both. P.C.H.S. was full of exciting happenings for students to get involved in.

Assemblies

Learning Outside the Box!

The auditorium and gymnasium were used for many events other than sporting events and theatre productions. Students needed a well-rounded education that cannot always happen in the classroom. This year snow did cut several events from our assemblies list. Students missed the annual talent show and Sadie Hawkins day. They were traditions that we hope make it back into next year's schedule. However, we still had several visitors to enhance our education. Mr. McGuinnis, a World War II survivor of the sinking of the USS Indianapolis, shared his experiences during that era. Students were encouraged to attend school faithfully to keep their drivers license by Sheriff Jonese. The Drug Free All-Stars, a traveling branch of the National Guard basketball team, came to our school to encourage us to leave drugs and alcohol behind and to participate in activities that promote a healthy lifestyle. The Army Basketball Team also came to challenge our teachers and show what teamwork can accomplish. These brief breaks from class were more than a diversion from the classroom, they were a learning experience as well.

Mr. McGuinnis shares his experiences from World War II.

Our Homecoming court is ready to take a ride around the field and take their seats until halftime.

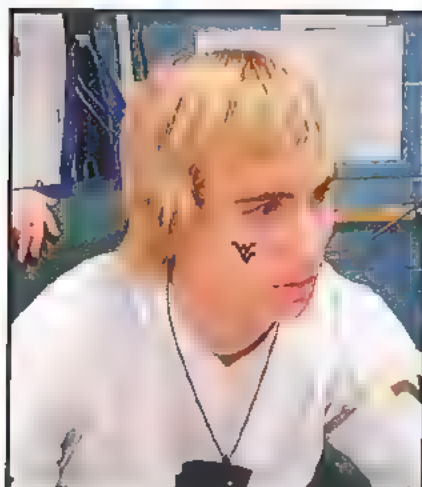

Homecoming at P.C.H.S. has always been a huge part of our school. So, 2009 Homecoming was no different. Everyone joined in on all the excitement with spirit week, powderpuff football, and the pep rally before the big night. Another event everyone looked forward to was electing two members from every grade. In addition to the two representatives, the seniors nominated three Queen and three King candidates to be recognized at halftime of the Homecoming game. Homecoming Queen was Adrienne Nottingham and King was Josh Arbogast. The Warriors played a great game, but after the grueling game were defeated 21-14 by Parkersburg Catholic. Spirit week had a great takeoff when ladies came as men and men came as ladies on Monday. Tuesday the student body went back in time on Decade Day. Wednesday we got to show off our future plans or favorite teams on Career/Favorite Sport Team. Thursday we had twins in the hall and farmers as everyone got into it on Twin/Farm Day. Friday everyone showed the most spirit as we got ready for the big game and everyone was dressed in maroon and gold. Overall it was a wonderful Homecoming, and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves

Cody Perkins supports WVU on favorite sports team day.

Noah Pugh and JD Mallow are two daring ladies.

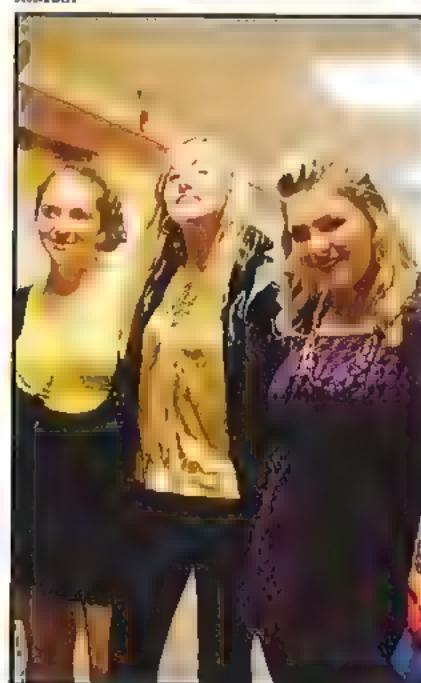

Samantha Walton zooms by Robbie Sipe and Adrienne Nottingham.

Travis Cook, Jordan Clendenen, and Jared Clendenen show their spirit on Twin Day.

Ashley Hanimons, Mrs. Rhea, and Elizabeth Fuller go back in time on Decade Day.

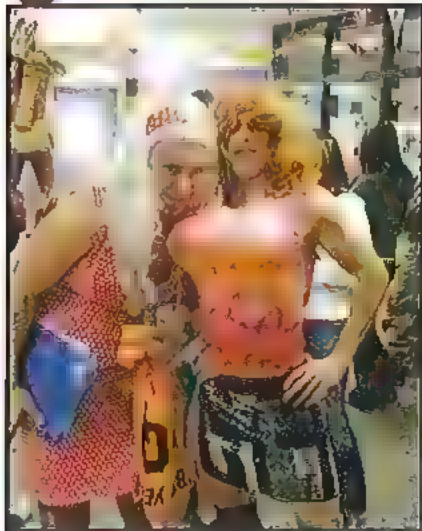

Daniel c Mothes, Olivia Workman, and Morgan Williamson are dressed up for the decade.

Erin White, Chelsea Walker, Lyndsey Barlow, and Gabrielle Cutlip look manly on Gender Swap Day.

Reid Harper and Josh Arbogast are being beautiful.

During Powderpuff, Shelby Sneed carries the ball as Erica Rebinski tries to pull her flag and her teammates run to help.

Spirit Week

A Tribe of One Will Never Fall!!!

You never knew what to expect when you walked through the doors during spirit week. This year, our eyes were amazed and laughter began as the students participated in gender swap/dress in the dark day, decade/hat day, career/favorite sports team day, twin/farm day and, as always, maroon and gold day.

Many girls took the field as they supported their class in powderpuff. After a couple rough games, the juniors came out on top.

School spirit was still high as each class decorated their banners and bulletin boards, hoping that theirs would be the best.

This year the homecoming dance was held during school hours. Students crowded onto the dance floor as they showed off their dancing skills.

After a long week of competitions and hard work, the juniors pulled ahead and won spirit week.

Robbie Stipe, Dylan Cutlip, Jaclyn Goldizen, and Patrick Cutlip dressed up as farmers during Spirit Week.

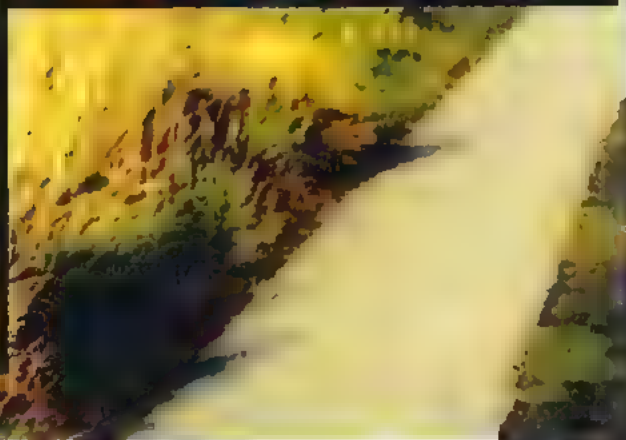

Everyone is showing off their dance moves.

The year would not be exciting without additional activities. From spirit week and homecoming to assemblies, clubs and trips...the lives of the students at P.C.H.S. are never boring. Students have taken themselves beyond academics and athletics by joining clubs and activities, bringing students into a new world of possibilities and responsibilities. There are many activities and clubs offered at P.C.H.S. and there is something to spark an interest in every student such as; FFA, FBLA, Project Christmas, The Tribe, Natural Helpers, Drama, FCA and many more. Assemblies also held a lot of fun and action that entertained students. Some were sponsored by the faculty and student classes for fundraising and to have a good time during school while others were held for recognition of various accomplishments of students. Thanks to all these additional activities, the student body of P.C.H.S. stayed very active. With so many opportunities out in the world every student got the chance to show what they were capable of accomplishing.

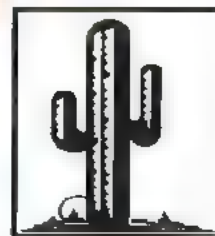

Katelynn Beverage, Nicole Barlow, and Olivia Workman talk about the events that occurred that day at the rodeo and plan for another eventful day coming up.

Payton Mann rounds the barrel during her time in the ring

Nicole Barlow rounds the last pole, hoping to have the fastest time.

Travis Cook and Jordan Clendenen were a big help with the rodeo for Nicole Barlow and Brittany Hall, taking care of Jada, the Australian Heeler.

WVHSRA

Riding Their Way to the Championship!!

The West Virginia High School Rodeo is one of the few things that hold true to the Old West traditions. Every year, students from each state go and compete for the National High School Rodeo titles that they each have worked so hard to earn, to be called the best of the best. This year, our very own Nicole Barlow was the West Virginia State Rodeo Queen, and she represented the state at the National Rodeo Conference. Other students, such as Brittany Hall, Katelynn Beverage, Payton Mann, and Olivia Workman, worked hard to earn their spots in the rodeo circuit, going up against some tough and experienced riders and hoping to win a gold or silver belt buckle. They competed in events such as goat tying, barrel racing, and team roping.

Track

Running the Extra Mile!!

The Warrior track team left everything on the asphalt. The team had an outstanding turnout along with some outstanding talent. They headed to the Richwood Invitational for their first meet, and it was evident that some of these athletes would go far. From there the team would travel to Richwood two more times, winning top spots. The boys track team also traveled to the Gazette Relays, where senior Abe Rittenhouse won first place in the 1600 and 3600-meter run, earning the boys team plenty of points. The boys and girls teams competed in the Coalfield Conference, both placing second. Coaches took 24 team members to the West Virginia state track meet to compete in numerous events; Abe Rittenhouse took first place in the 3600-meter run. Abe also received high point honors with 22 points. This year's talented seniors will be greatly missed; however, the team looks forward to an even more successful season next year.

Heart-Driven Players!

The Lady Warrior Softball team had one of the most successful seasons they have had in a very long time. The team worked hard and they worked hard together. Led by Coach Jerry Ramos and assisted by Mark Williamson, the Lady Warriors spent many evenings at Stillwell Park giving their all. Softball is still a very new sport to P.C.H.S., and every year there is something new accomplished. The team next year will be thriving, considering they will only be losing two seniors. The girls worked very hard during the season, and many games were won. They came out in the end with an 8-8 record ... one of the best in a very long time. This year, the girls learned the most important aspect of any sport, "teamwork."

Drive'em Far-Then Run Home!

The 2010 Warrior Baseball team had lost many seniors from last year, but they still had four seniors that came back to help make this year another successful season. For the first part of the season, the freshmen and others learned the concepts of baseball and Coach DiPasquale came out hoping to make it to states once again. This year's team faced many challenges throughout the season, but the Warriors held their heads high in making states their goal. During the sectional tournament, the Warriors played the Richwood Lumberjacks three times and won two of those three games. Then regionals came and went, and our Warrior baseball team wasn't so fortunate. This year's team lost four seniors, but with the upcoming players they hoped to help improve the Warrior Baseball team.

Cheerleaders and School Spirit

Cheering to Raise our Pride!

Pocahontas County High School was full of spirit, from the cheerleaders to the fans. Not only did the cheerleaders represent us in spirit, but our "tribe" did also. The tribe was a group of P.C.H.S. students put together to make a group of tag-along spirit raisers. As the spirit rose higher and higher each year, our athletics seemed to rise to their fullest potential. Without the fanatics and cheerleaders, our spirit would have been low. The four cheerleaders cheered their hearts out and had a successful and fun year with all the excitement during football season.

Girls Basketball

Drive to the basket with POWER!!!

The girls basketball team worked very hard this season from start to finish to strive for the state tournaments once again, after falling short last year. November 11 marked the girls' first practice in which they came out more aggressive and more intense than ever. With no seniors on the team, they knew they all had to step up in order to have a successful season. They started out with an excellent win against Fayetteville and making it through the first round of the holiday tournaments but fell short at the end against Summers County.

Throughout the season, the Lady Warriors played very strategically and in the end came out with a winning season. They went into the sectional tournament with a 12-5 record and made it through to regionals. At regionals, the ladies were pumped and ready to go by the start of the game. They put out a good effort, leading the whole game, and came out with a win, 80-60. The girls had to face one of their biggest competitors yet, Charleston Catholic for states, and lost only by a disappointing one point. All in all, the Lady Warriors put up a good fight, and next year should be one of the best seasons yet.

Basketball Season. A season that will be remembered as the blizzard season, due to the fact that over half of the games had to be rescheduled due to the massive blizzard of 2010. And if the blizzard was not bad enough, there were many snow days to keep our Warriors off the court. Having games three to four times a week was just one of the crazy things they had to over-come in their attempt to make it to states. Having practice in between the snow days and after school was the second challenge. The boys had an amazing season over all. Just losing three seniors at the end of the season is a reassuring thing that the team will be outstanding next year. The boys made it all the way to the second round of sectionals, but sadly lost by one point to Midland Trail. The season over all was an exciting one, and next year looks just as good. Hopefully, the snow and blizzards will pass up the Warriors in 2011!

Golf

If You Drink, Don't Drive; Don't Even Putt!!!!

The Pocahontas County Golf team was held together by three freshmen, two sophomores, two juniors, three seniors, and their coach, Jimmy Cutlip. With no golf course available at the school, the team held daily practices at the Pocahontas Country Club, located in Marlinton and The Raven, located at Snowshoe Mountain. This year's team was unique as they had many players who participated in other school activities such as Band, Soccer, and Football.

The Warrior team opened up the season by playing Tygarts Valley, East Hardy, and Greenbrier East. They played well against Tygarts Valley but not as they expected. As they progressed through the season, they found a rhythm as individuals and improved each game to make the team better. The team peaked in September when they dominated the PVC's at their home course. They went into regionals with a mission to keep up with winning, but came out with a tough loss. Although regionals had not gone the way the team wanted, the Warrior team still advanced to the state level and placed 7th overall.

Football

Clear Eyes, Full Hearts, Can't Lose

The 2009 football season began with intensity at the beginning of August. The team, led by a group of talented seniors, worked extremely hard and improved every game and practice by long strides.

It has been said that it takes three years to build a winning team, this year being the first out of the three. Even though the Warrior team only won three out of the ten games they played, the young men came together to become one and played their best all season. As the scoreboard shows, the Warriors had an up-and-down season, and at one point had high hopes of making it to playoffs. Although the dreams of making it to playoffs did not come true, the team definitely gave their many supporting fans something to cheer about. They accomplished some very exciting wins and had a couple disappointing losses.

Throughout the season, the Warrior football team had to fight against inexperience and injury, as well as some exceptional teams. This year was a building year and next year's season is looking hopeful, with the new upcoming players and a lot of improvements.

Driven to Win!

The Lady Warriors soccer team had a great season! The girls started out the season with a three-game winning streak against James Monroe, Berkeley Springs, and Nicholas County. With a great start like that, it wasn't hard for the Lady Warriors to get pumped and confident for the rest of the season. Even with a few losses here and there, the team never had a word of discouragement from the fans or coaches, Mike and Mary Sue Burns, who have coached the team for the past several years. Finishing the season with 9 wins, 7 losses, and 2 ties, the team was very proud and confident that they did their very best. The fans, coaches, and players weren't happy to have the season come to an end, but they were all extremely excited for next year's soccer season! Mike and Mary Sue Burns ended their soccer coaching careers on a high note, turning over the boys and girls soccer teams to the capable coaching hands of Steve and Kathy White.

The team ended the year with a record of 16-2-2, another one of the best records they have achieved. The P.C.H.S. boys soccer team was led by eight outstanding seniors: Jesse Bolyard, Abe Rittenhouse, Jairus Morton, Jimmy Wiley, Martin Lockman, Jerry Simonin, Kiy Tywoniw, and Josh Alderman. Four of these seniors received all-state awards: Jesse Bolyard received defender of the year and first team, Abe Rittenhouse received first team, Jerry Simonin goalkeeper of the year and 1st team, and Jimmy Wiley honorable mention. These seniors were also invited to play in the North/South All-Star Game. Overall the P.C.H.S. boys soccer team was tenth in the state, with almost 5 goals scored per game and less than 1 goal scored against them per game.

One reason the students at P.C.H.S. joined athletics was to eliminate boredom and get into shape. P.C.H.S. offered many variations of sports this year including golf, boys and girls soccer, football, track and field, volleyball, cheerleading, boys and girls basketball, baseball, and softball. This year the students of P.C.H.S. tried to uphold their glory in athletics as they continued their success in the classroom. Although the Warriors were not number one in every sport, they still showed their Warrior pride by giving their best and having a fun and positive outlook on the game, regardless of the outcome. When the end of the year came, coaches, teachers, staff and the community were satisfied with the athletics' overall achievement and bid farewell once again to the senior athletes as they left the field and court for the last time.

Educational Support

Driving Students to New Heights!

It takes a lot of different people to make Pocahontas County High School and its students successful. Our school was a great place to be, thanks in part to the roles that these different individuals play. This year we had a special addition to our faculty with the addition of Ms. Maria Busick. She lent us many talents, such as her love for playing folk music on her dulcimer and helping her students meet an unsung hero, Mr. McGuinnis. Mr. McGuinnis was a survivor of the sinking of the USS Indianapolis during World War II. He helped her students create a unique Social Studies project, winning them a second place at the state competition.

Ms. Courtney Curran shared her expertise with the math department. She could be found working with students in their math classes with Mrs. Rhea, Mr. DiPasquale and Mr. Sutton. Mrs. Kathy Kolonay lent her talents to the language, science and social studies departments. She also spent time working with the after school program to help students get caught up on late and missing assignments.

Mr. Dan Arbogast was found in every corner of our school, from keeping the soda machines filled to monitoring college classes. His positive attitude and personality were a source of encouragement for many students. Mrs. Renee Hill spent a great deal of time helping students and being our on-call secretary when things were tight in the office. Mrs. Pat Thompson lent her help, outgoing personality and love of sewing to many students and the fine arts department. Mrs. Susan Borrer was our attendance director, and Ms. Wanda Hrabina was our in-school teacher.

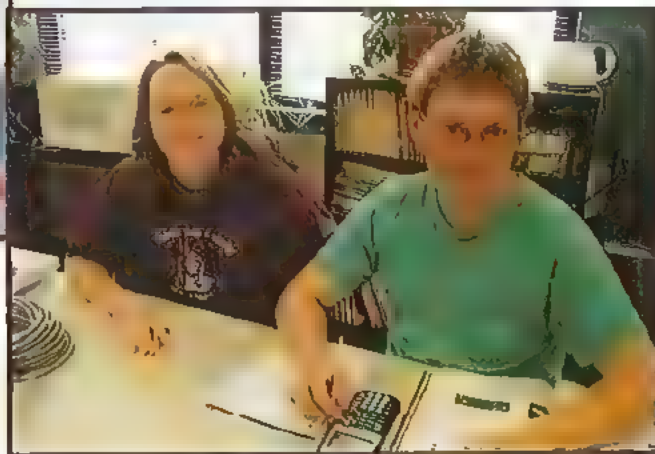

Our school had a great atmosphere, thanks to our janitorial staff. During the day, Mr. Morgan McComb could be found keeping P.C.H.S. bright and sparkling on the inside and out. The evening staff included Mrs. Sherri Howe, Mr. Caleb Barkley and Mr. Frank Barrett.

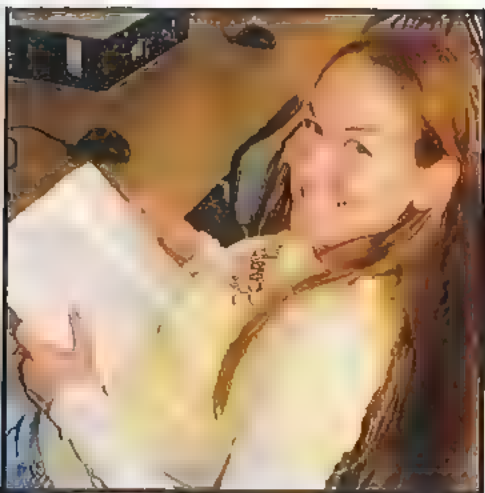

When the lunch bell rang, students could be found running to the cafeteria to enjoy the lunches prepared by our devoted cafeteria staff. Mrs. Nancy Green was the lady in charge of keeping the students happy with diverse menus and home favorites. Helping her in these culinary endeavors were Mrs. Kim McComb and Ms. Joyce McLaughlin. Without these devoted staff members, P.C.H.S. would not be the place it was.

Library / Office & Guidance

If a student ever needed any kind of assistance dealing with subjects such as college information, book research and check-outs, leaving school early, or some type of disciplinary action, all they needed to do was go to the main office, the library, or the guidance office. The men and women who worked in these areas of our school went out of their way to help students with anything they needed.

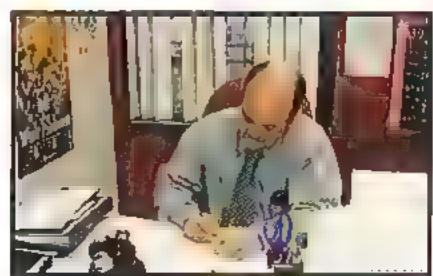

When students wanted to check out a new book, work on a computer, or just needed somewhere quiet to study, the P.C.H.S. library was the place to go. Ms. Chappell was always very welcoming with a warm smile and assisted with any extra help anyone needed.

The best place to get college information, test packets, scholarships, or any kind of advice, was the P.C.H.S. Guidance Office. Mrs. Beverage helped with any problems students were dealing with or gave advice on personal matters.

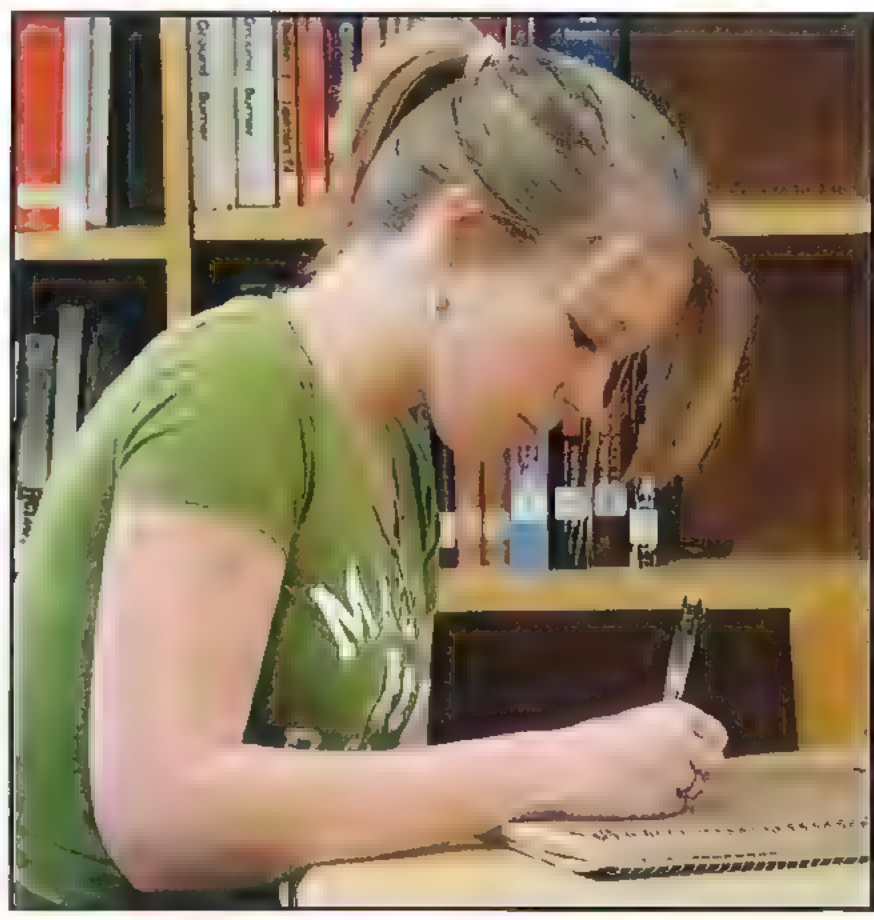

Finally, most people thought that a trip to the office meant disciplinary action, but this definitely did not hold true. Mr. Lindsey, Mr. Sanders, Mrs. Pritt, and Mrs. Rao were always there to answer or try to answer any questions you had. No matter what problems or questions any student had, the Library, Guidance Office, and Office staff were always there to help.

Art & Foreign Language

In the Art and Foreign Language world, things were anything but normal. Bright colors and posters with famous people and holidays were just a part of the classes. Student were always busy and with the snow days this year, it didn't stop them from completing the work that was needed to be done. One thing is for sure, they learned and had a blast with the Art and Spanish projects. The Foreign Language Festival came in May and featured many competitions and student projects, along with the evening with the arts. These events allowed many community members to view the wonderful and unique projects that were created by the student body of P.C.H.S. After these events, the year went by fast, seeing the seniors graduate and the rest looking to see if the following year looked promising.

F O R E S T R Y

In the Building Construction and Forestry fields, there were so many things that went on that it's hard to keep up with these guys. This year the construction class continued to finish the modular home that was constructed the year earlier. This time the home also included a one-car parking garage. As Building Construction continued to build, the Forestry classes were out gathering timber to supply them. This year, not only will seniors be graduating, but Mr. Burns will walk the stage and retire after many years of dedicated service to this school. Mr. Burns was the coach of the former P.C.H.S. Forestry National Champions and will never be forgotten for this success. As the year came to a sudden stop, the students only wondered who would replace Mr. Burns and hoped he or she would be an asset to the school as he was.

Electricity students are talented both with their hands and minds. Students in the Electronics and Electricity classes learned about power supplies, audio amplifiers, trouble shooting, Internet configuration, and computer programming.

Mr. Smith took over the position as the Electricity teacher, and Mr. Beverage taught Electronics. It's amazing how much students in these classes learned and the amount of technical work they did. In these classes, students can learn the basic skills needed to obtain a license to have a career in these fields.

As these classes excel each and every year, all students have a great chance to start out in the workforce with a great education along with fair pay if they do not decide to attend higher education.

"Life is a Highway" continued to be a sum up of everyone's life. This year, the 2009-2010 yearbook chose "Life is a Highway" as their official yearbook title and theme. As days turned into weeks and weeks turned into months, the yearbook staff stayed right on track with their layouts and sports as they fell in season. Along with the assistance of ideas from the Business classes taught by Mrs. Kesterson, the yearbook started to become a book. The Business classes were some of the largest vocational courses of any offered at P.C.H.S. Any student entering this field of study will have a great start on higher education and will experience the best times of high school with Mrs. Kesterson.

MUSIC & BAND

The band was very successful this year, despite the many snow days that occurred. The theme for this year's performances was "That 70's Show." Mr. Ullman and the participating students chose this theme in early fall. Once set for the year, the band traveled to Elkins for the TOB preview, the Mountain State Forest Festival, and won 1st place at the Buckwheat Festival. Everyone agreed that this year was a very fun and successful high school musical. Also there were three students selected to attend the West Virginia University Honors Band for one day. Those participating students were Kailey Gibson, Kiy Tywonw, and Martin Lockman. As Mr. Ullman continues to increase the band excellence, we can only predict that the band will grow and become very successful in the near future.

Parenting class students learn how to be successful parents in the future.

Many students at P.C.H.S. take advantage of the classes offered in the Family and Consumer Sciences department. These classes prepare students and help them develop the skills needed to succeed in individual and family living. In Parenting and Culinary, students explored and learned about child development, nutrition, food preparation, family living, workplace skills, development across the life-span, hospitality careers, and tourism. Driver Education has certain requirements students must have to take the course. One requirement is that the student must be at least 16 or turn 16 within the semester. In Driver Education, students learn about safety on the road and how to properly handle a vehicle. Ms. Wiley and Ms. L. VanReenen were responsible for these courses. These classes prepare students for the future and help them make good decisions.

HEALTH

This year the health and physical education classes consisted of many students from all grade levels, but a majority were freshmen. Health students learned about the many functions of the human body. They learned about childbirth and harms of drinking alcohol and abusing drugs. The P.E. classes participated in activities such as basketball, soccer, hockey, and many other sports. Mr. Knisely taught Health and P.E. while Mr. Anderson and Mr. Sheets taught only P.E. Health and Physical Education are required courses, so all students must obtain the credits. If you do not take these classes, you will not graduate. However, always remember to keep healthy and stay in fit condition.

Agricultural Education is one of the most interesting classes P.C.H.S. offers to its students. Ms. Davis worked very hard to teach the students what she thought was important. In Horticulture students learned how to tend to plants and to develop a new, different responsibility of taking care of something besides themselves.

She also taught a class about animal and plant production where students also learned how plants and animals reproduce. As well as these, she taught Ag. Mechanics where one learned to weld with a combination of building. She allowed her students to build bird houses this year. As advisor of FFA, Ms. Davis assisted with a successful fruit sale that raised over $25,000. FFA then bought t-shirts for all participating members. Everyone worked very hard to make the FFA chapter grow. It had 34 active members.

S O C I A L

Social Studies is more than just learning about the past. It's a ride through some of the greatest milestones in our country's history Mrs. Martin, Mr. Anderson & Mr. Taylor worked very hard this year to teach what they knew and to enhance the minds of the students. The freshmen did not know what learning was until they got these three enthusiastic teachers.

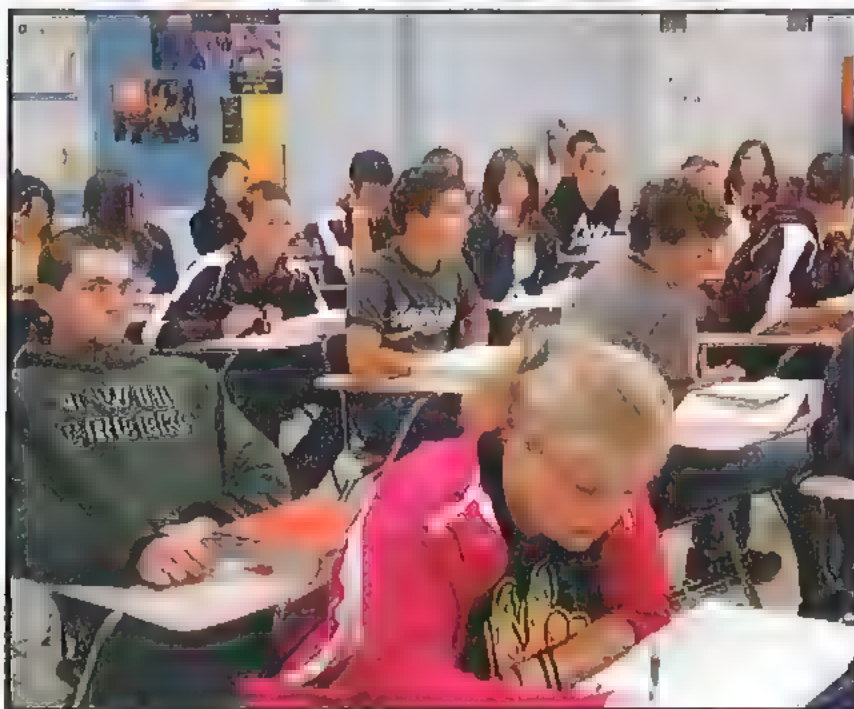

They experienced the definition of teamwork in the Social Studies Fair, if they chose to have a partner and if not they experienced the definition of individual work. As well as the Social Studies Fair, the teachers used a variety of activities to get the students involved, to stimulate their minds, and to get hands on in history.

These three teachers worked very hard to accomplish what they did and to enhance the minds of the students. Everyone learned a lot and had a great time in Social Studies.

M A T H

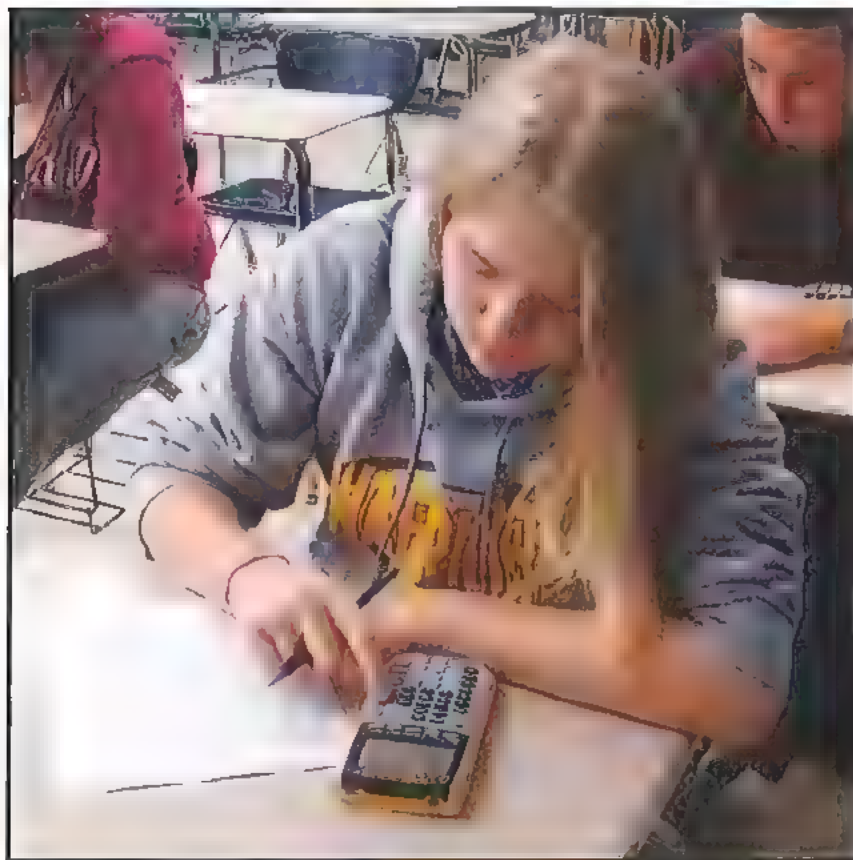

Mathematics is considered by many students as one of the most complicated groups of classes at P.C.H.S.. Students are required to complete 4 math classes whether they are in the professional pathway or not. Classes offered in the math department include; Algebra I and II, Geometry, Pre-Calculus, Trigonometry, Calculus and Conceptual Math.

Algebra I, taught by Mrs. Rhea, focused on equations and graphing and was the gateway to all higher math courses. Geometry, taught by Mr. DiPasquale and Mr. Sutton, employed students to deal with right angles, congruent triangles, parallel planes, points, etc. From Geometry, students can progress to Algebra II, where they apply the skills learned earlier on. Mr. DiPasquale taught the more challenging classes, which include Pre-Calc and Calculus, while Mr. Sutton taught Trigonometry.

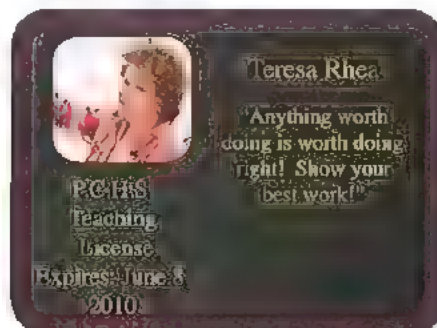

Although the courses were difficult, the students strived to do their best every day. They also took advantage of the math classes so they could have a better understanding of what they can look forward to in college.

Ms. White's class does fun projects including the Jumpy Dolls.

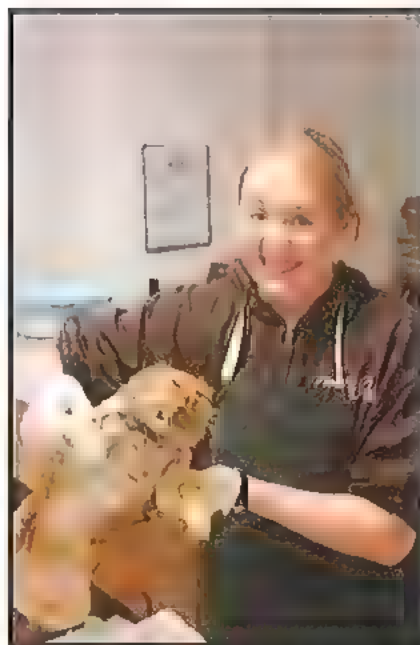

SCIENCE

Doing lab activities, writing lab reports, learning how chemicals react with each other, and dissecting animals while memorizing their muscles and tissue types are all part of the Pocahontas County High School Science curriculum.

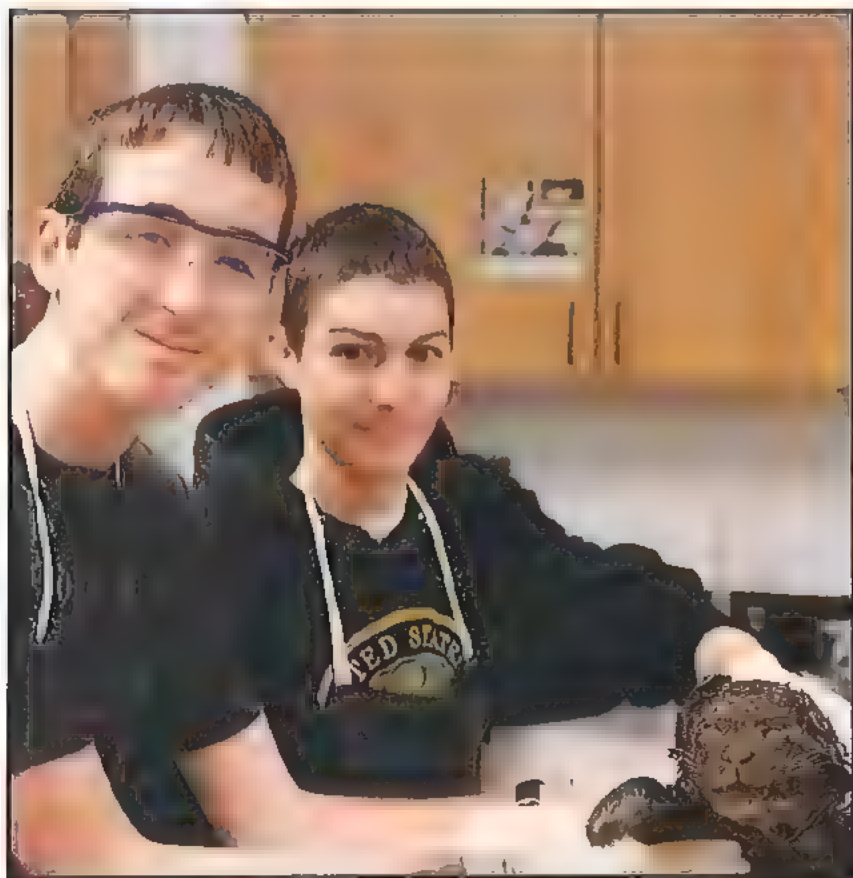

Many Science classes are offered to the students so that they can meet West Virginia's standards of having four Science credits before graduating. Mrs. White, teacher of Anatomy, AP Biology, Biology, and Physical Science, strived to make each of her classes fun and entertaining. Mrs. Burns, teacher of Honors Chemistry, Chemistry, Physics, and Earth Science, also made her classes challenging but exciting. Mrs. Weimer was responsible for Biology and Physical Science for 9th and 10th graders, and Mr. Knisely was there to fill in when needed.

Science isn't always about memorizing facts and procedures; there are also a lot of hands-on activities that the students are involved in. Mrs. Burns' Chemistry classes were busy finishing their tie dye t-shirts while Mrs. White's Anatomy classes were finishing dissecting their cats.

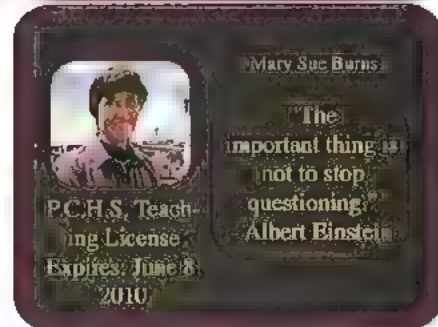

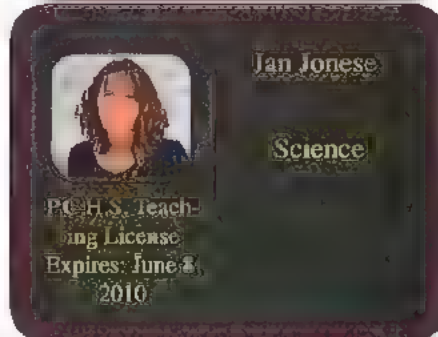

The Science classes offered here at P.C.H.S. are difficult but also very fun. Every course from Earth Science to Biology was based on new-found information from earlier scientists making each class different and interesting.

Lab partners Jamie Boothe and Joe Rose examine their cat's bone structure and muscles in Anatomy.

L A N G U A G E A R T S

When thinking about the English Department; poems, short stories, and novels come to mind here at P.C.H.S. Throughout the students' high school careers, many varieties of literature were studied in the classrooms.

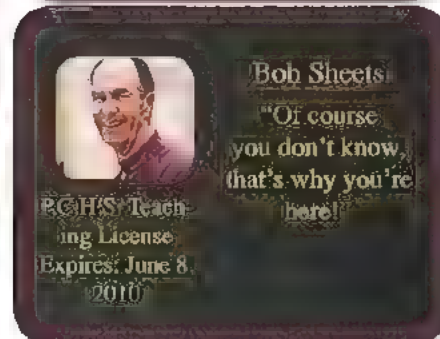

Mr. Sheets, Ms. Boothe, Mrs. Martin, and Ms. VanReenan are the teachers responsible for the English department. Freshmen started with a diverse overview of the many different writers throughout history, while the sophomores took an in-depth look at literature throughout the world. The juniors' main focus was on American Writings; the seniors learned about British Authors and the writings of Shakespeare and the impact it had on society. Along with these classes, College English, AP English, and ESSH are also offered here at P.C.H.S. The advanced classes are for students who are goal-oriented and self motivated. Every student must have passed four English courses to graduate.

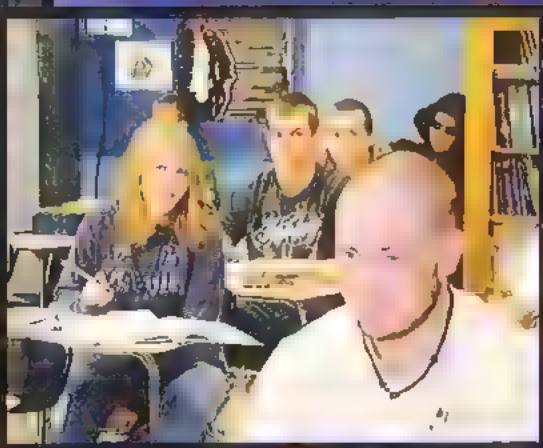

Katie Carper concentrates on her class assignment.

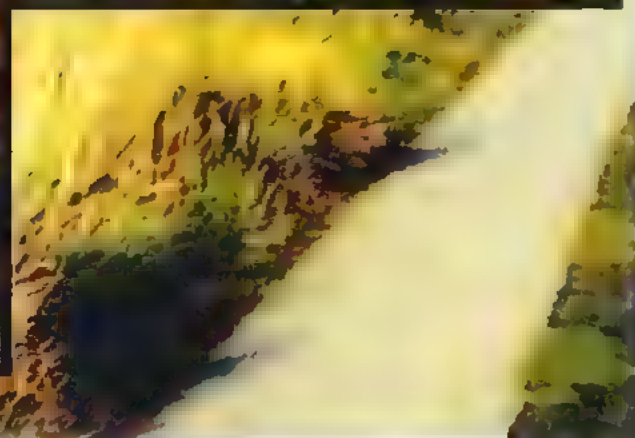

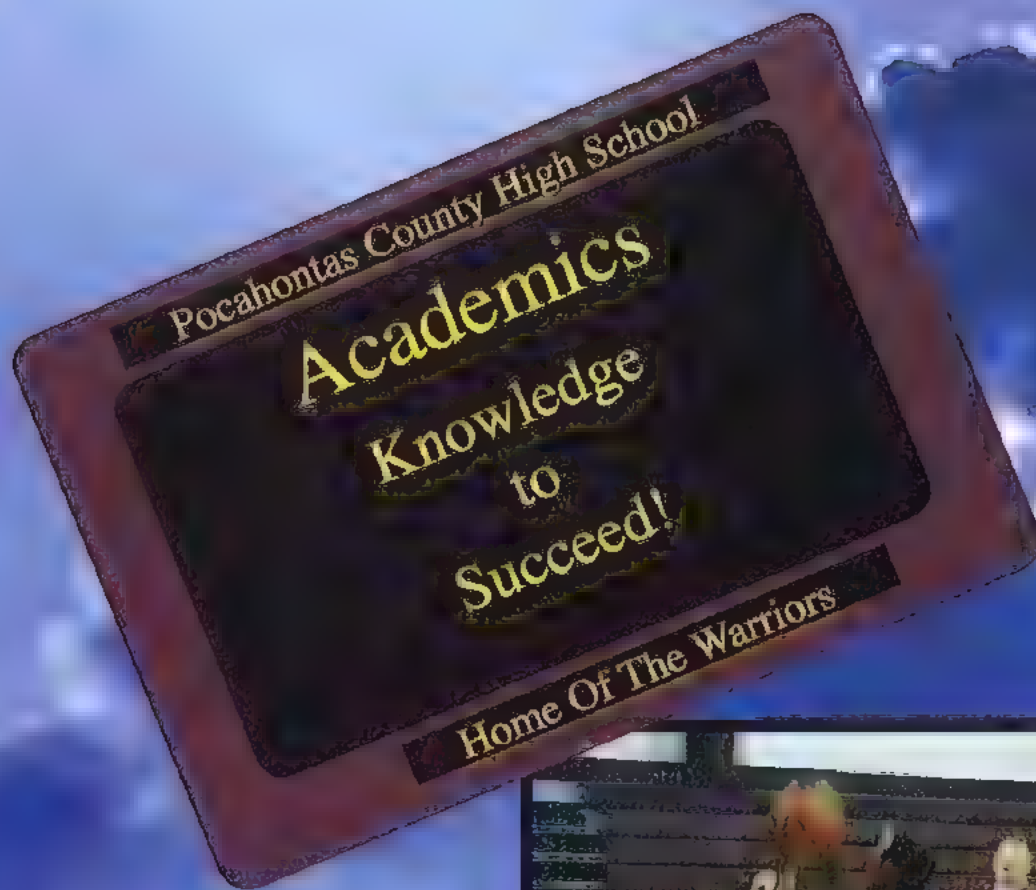

Skylar Knisely and Jacob Friel listen to Mr. Sheets lecture on "As I Lay Dying."

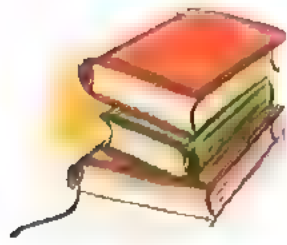

Academics were the main purpose for students to come to school. The teachers at P.C.H.S. loved to see their students learning and discovering new things. It was difficult for students to choose a class because they were so limited. Students, of course, had to take the required core classes: English, Math, Science, History, Health, and P.E., in order to fulfill graduation and career cluster requirements. Seniors had to complete 72 hours of work-based learning experience depending on the student's interests. Whether it be Music, Art, or Business, many options existed. With so many opportunities for students to go above and beyond what was required, many signed up for classes that would better prepare them for a post-secondary education.

Faculty & Staff

Preparing Today's Students for Tomorrow's Challenges!

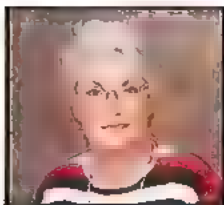

The 2009-2010 school year opened on August 26, 2009, with many cheerful and new faculty and staff. Joining the team was Wilbert Smith as the replacement teacher for Electricity, and Jack Sanders as a part time Spanish teacher. The new staff members fit into the school perfectly, and the students were excited to have them as teachers. The other faculty members did what they do best and continued to educate the students, as the custodial staff kept the school looking its best and the cooks cooked to their best ability.

For the third time, the class of 2011 returned to P.C.H.S. for yet another great year of learning. All were excited for what the New year to offer. They were also excited by the fact they were only one step away from becoming seniors. They all worked hard to fundraise money to organize homecoming and prom, which were very successful. When the 2009-2010 school year began, they had a lot on their plate but proved to everyone that they were a very dedicated, hardworking, and successful class. With only one year to go, they ended on a positive note.

Seniors

Class of 2010

August 27 marked the last first day of school for the class of 2010. The doors of P.C.H.S. opened once again, but this time 79 students came in as seniors. They now had their chance to shine. The first few weeks were filled with class pictures, electing class officers, and getting the last few fundraisers on the roll. Seniors elected as officers were responsible for planning graduation and reunions yet to come in the future. Elected president was Cody Perkins; vice president was Joy Walkup; secretary was Amanda Nottingham; and Josh Arbogast took on the role as treasurer. Next on the agenda was ordering their caps, gowns, and invitations for graduation, which was just around the corner. Months turned into weeks and weeks turned into days as graduation approached; the Class of 2010 was ready to walk the stage. As the old memories remain from the past 13 years, the seniors will move on and gain new experiences on the road to success.

from the difficult year of being a senior

One

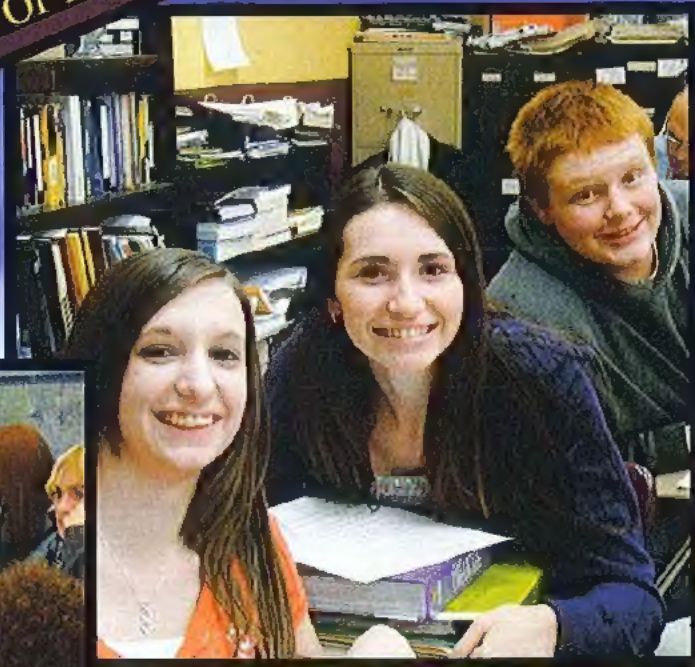

of the things that stayed the same at P.C.H.S. was the fact that there were always new people to get to know and make friends. As the 2009-2010 school year began, the seniors were excited to be starting their last year of high school, while the freshmen came in hoping to see a friendly face to welcome them to high school life. The high school became a second home to the 350 plus students during the school year.

The senior class stepped up to take their place at the top of the chain. They hung out with the friends they considered "close", knowing that a lot of them would be going their separate ways after graduation. The juniors prepared, planned, and fundraised so that prom-2010 would be the best they could make it. The sophomores had a lot of pressure taken off their shoulders because they were no longer at the bottom of the totem pole.

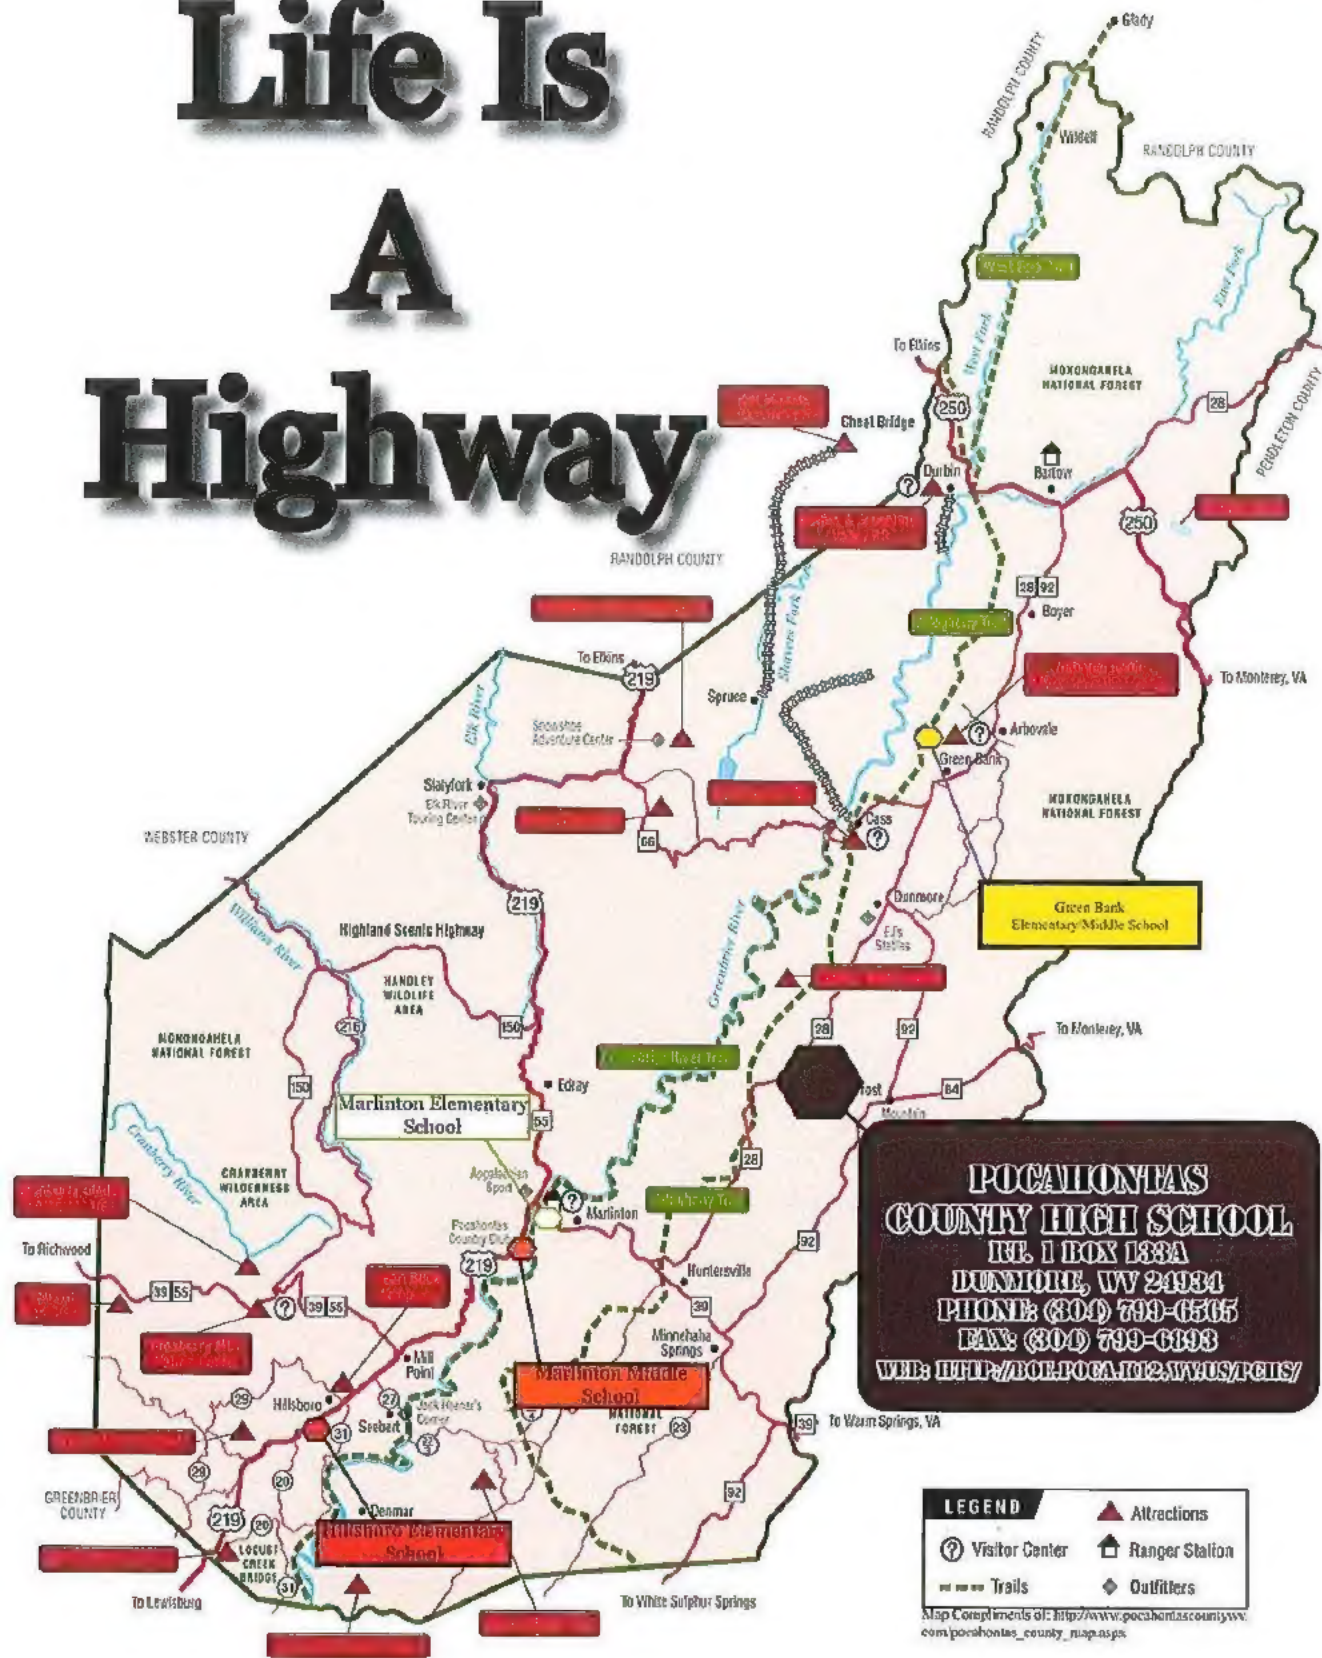

The freshmen were nervous, not knowing what to expect at P.C.H.S. They were also one of the biggest classes during the 2009-2010 school year. Through all the "trials and tribulations" of academics, sports, and student life, the students of P.C.H.S. stood strong.
